I. INTRODUCTION

On behalf of KYOCERA SENCO Industrial Tools, Inc. (“Senco”), and in accordance with section 781(b) of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (“the Act”), 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b), and 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(c), we respectfully request that the Department of Commerce (“Commerce”) conduct a circumvention inquiry regarding the completion or assembly of certain collated steel staples (“CCSS”) in Vietnam by Vina Hardwares Joint Stock Company, also known as Cong Ty Co Phan Vina Hardwares (“Vina”), working in conjunction with Tianjin Jin Xin Sheng Long Metal Products Co., Ltd. (“JXSL”).

Vina is a Vietnamese company formed in July 2019 that first transshipped CCSS manufactured by JXSL, and then manufactured CCSS using staple presses, wire band, and packaging imported from JXSL. As Commerce is aware, JXSL was one of the two respondents selected for individual investigation in the antidumping (“AD”) duty investigation in Certain Collated Steel Staples from the People’s Republic of China, Commerce Case No. A-570-112. In that investigation, JXSL received a margin based on total adverse facts available due to its failure to cooperate by failing to act to the best of its ability to respond to Commerce’s requests for information. As a result, JXSL received a final margin of 122.55%, or 112.01% when adjusted for subsidy offsets resulting from the final determination of the companion countervailing duty (“CVD”) investigation, in which JXSL received a final margin of 12.32%.¹

¹ See Certain Collated Steel Staples From the People’s Republic of China: Antidumping Duty Order, 85 Fed. Reg. 43,815 (Dep’t of Commerce July 20, 2020); Certain Collated Steel Staples From the People’s Republic of China: Countervailing Duty Order, 85 Fed. Reg. 43,813, 43,814 (Dep’t of Commerce July 20, 2020).

Separately, CCSS, which are classified under subheading 8305.20.0000, HTSUS, are currently subject to Section 301 List 4A duties, which were initially imposed at a rate of 15% ad valorem effective September 1, 2019.² The Section 301 List 4A duties decreased to 7.5% ad valorem effective February 14, 2020.³ The 7.5% rate remains in effect today.

Thus, imports from JXSL are subject to AD/CVD cash deposits and Section 301 duties totaling 131.83% ad valorem.

A variety of pandemic-related circumstances led Senco to postpone filing this request. Senco initially commissioned foreign market research to obtain information regarding Vina's operations. After the initial research, the COVID-19 pandemic became a worldwide issue, and the effects of it continue to reverberate in the global economy. Regardless, the information presented herein remains relevant, and where necessary, the data have been updated. A declaration from the foreign market researcher is found in Exhibit 1.

II. PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION OF THE MERCHANDISE CIRCUMVENTING THE AD/CVD ORDERS ON CERTAIN COLLATED STEEL STAPLES FROM CHINA

Pursuant to 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(c)(2)(i), we provide the following information regarding the merchandise that is circumventing the AD/CVD orders on CCSS from China.

² See Notice of Modification of Section 301 Action: China's Acts, Policies, and Practices Related to Technology Transfer, Intellectual Property, and Innovation, 84 Fed. Reg. 43,304, 43,324, 43,422 (USTR Aug. 20, 2019) (listing the Section 301 List 4A HTSUS codes and products); Notice of Modification of Section 301 Action: China's Acts, Policies, and Practices Related to Technology Transfer, Intellectual Property, and Innovation, 84 Fed. Reg. 45,821 (USTR Aug. 30, 2019) (providing that the duty rate for the Section 301 List 4A products would be 15% ad valorem on the initial effective date).

³ See Notice of Modification of Section 301 Action: China's Acts, Policies, and Practices Related to Technology Transfer, Intellectual Property, and Innovation, 85 Fed. Reg. 3741 (USTR Jan. 22, 2020).

A. The Characteristics (Including Technical, Physical, Chemical, or Other) of the Product

The merchandise that is subject to this request is CCSS as defined by the scope of the existing AD and CVD orders on CCSS from China. CCSS are made from steel wire having a nominal diameter ranging from 0.0355 inch to 0.0830 inch, inclusive, have a nominal leg length from 0.25 inch to 3.0 inches, inclusive, and have a nominal crown width from 0.187 inch to 1.125 inch, inclusive. CCSS may be manufactured from any type of steel and may be uncoated or coated regardless of the type or number of coatings, including but not limited to coatings to inhibit corrosion.

CCSS may be collated using any material or combination of materials, including but not limited to adhesive, glue, adhesive film, adhesive tape, and paper tape.

CCSS are generally made to conform to American Society for Testing and Materials (ASTM) specification ASTM F1667–18a, but can also be made to other specifications.

Certain forms of CCSS are excluded from the scope of the AD and CVD orders, such as carton-closing staples covered by the scope of the existing AD order on Carton-Closing Staples from the People’s Republic of China,⁴ and certain collated fasteners commonly referred to as “C-ring hog rings” and “D-ring hog rings” produced from stainless or carbon steel wire having a nominal diameter of 0.050 to 0.081 inches, inclusive.

⁴ See Carton-Closing Staples from the People’s Republic of China: Antidumping Duty Order, 83 Fed. Reg. 20,792 (Dep’t of Commerce May 8, 2018).

B. The Uses of the Product

CCSS are principally used to fasten two or more pieces of material, including but not limited to wood or other solid building materials.

C. The Product's Tariff Classification Under the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States

Merchandise subject to this circumvention allegation is classified under Chapter 83 of the Harmonized Tariff System of the United States ("HTSUS"). If properly classified, the merchandise that is subject to this circumvention allegation should be imported using the HTSUS subheading 8305.20.00.00 ("Staples in strips"). While this classification is provided for convenience and for customs purposes, the written description of the scope of the AD and CVD orders from which this request arises is dispositive.

D. Clear and Legible Photographs, Schematic Drawings, Specifications, Standards, Marketing Materials, and Any Other Exemplars Providing a Visual Depiction of the Product

As discussed below, Vina exported CCSS to a large U.S. importer/distributor, Peace Industries, Ltd., of which Spotnails is a division and brand name.⁵ Senco has attached Spotnails' catalogue at Exhibit 2 and relevant webpage printouts, which contain visual depictions of various CCSS it sells, at Exhibit 3. Spotnails' catalogue and website are the only information reasonably available to Senco that contain a visual depiction of the product sold by Vina to Peace Industries, Ltd., as Commerce recognizes in 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(c)(2).

⁵ See Exhibit 4.

E. A Description of Parts, Materials, and the Production Process Employed in the Production of the Product

A staple is a U-shaped wire fastener typically having with two same-size pointed or pointless legs connected by a crown located opposite staple-point ends.⁶

CCSS are produced from all types of steel wire, including carbon, alloy, and stainless steel. Steel wire may be drawn from wire rod, or may be purchased from an outside wire producer. Both uncoated (bright) wire and coated (typically galvanized) wire are used to produce CCSS.

If a producer begins with wire rod as its starting input, it first must draw the rod into wire of the desired diameter. To do this, the wire rod is unspooled and passed through a series of dies that gradually reduce the wire diameter. Wire rod may be uncoated (i.e., bright) or may be coated (typically galvanized) before drawing. If a producer uses wire as its starting input, the wire drawing process is unnecessary.

Two different production processes can be used to produce CCSS from wire. One process forms individual staples from wire, and then continuously collates and coheres them using glue, adhesive, and/or adhesive or paper tape. The staple forming machine will count the number of staples specified for the finished strip and then sever the strip, ejecting it to be packed. Producers of CCSS produced in this manner typically pack boxes of finished goods by hand.

The second process produces CCSS from a flat “band” of wires. In this process, multiple strands of wire are pulled from a backstand holding spools of wire. The number of strands is based on the maximum width of the band that the band line can produce, rather than the number of staples in the finished strip. For example, a band-making line may have the capacity to produce a band that contains 50 wires (i.e., it is 50 wires wide), while the finished strips of staples will have 25 staples. Glue and/or adhesive is applied to the gathered strands of wire, cohering and collating them. The adhesive applied to cohere the band of wires is dried or cured, typically using heat and/or infrared light. The finished band may be divided into narrower bands reflecting the number of staples per strip to be produced. For example, a band with 50 wires may be divided into two 25-wire bands if the CCSS to be produced will have 25 staples per strip. The band is coiled on a spool, and then separately processed through a staple forming machine.

The staple forming machine measures the amount of band needed to form the strip of finished staples, and then shears the piece from the band and forms the strip of staples in one action. For example, a strip of staples with a one-half inch crown and one inch legs would require a bit more than 2.5 inches of band, which is cut from the band and formed into the shape of the staples, forming a strip of CCSS.

The finished strip of staples is then ejected for packing, either by hand or using automated packing systems.

III. A CONCISE PUBLIC DESCRIPTION OF THE PRODUCT AND PUBLIC IDENTIFICATION OF THE NAME AND ADDRESS OF ANY PRODUCER, EXPORTER, AND IMPORTER OF THE PRODUCT CIRCUMVENTING THE AD/CVD ORDERS

A concise public description of the product, required pursuant to 19 C.F.R.

§ 351.226(c)(2)(i), is provided above.

Public identification of the name and address of any producer, exporter, and importer of the product circumventing of the AD/CVD orders on CCSS from China that is reasonably available to Senco is provided below.

IV. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

Senco filed AD and CVD petitions concerning imports of CCSS from China on June 6, 2019.⁷ Commerce's AD investigation individually investigated two Chinese CCSS exporters: Tianjin Hweschun Fasteners Manufacturing Co., Ltd. and JXSL. As discussed below, JXSL has been working with a Vietnamese entity, Vina, first to transship CCSS and then to engage in circumvention by transferring the final step of its production operations from China to Vietnam since the months immediately after the cases were filed.

Since November 12, 2019, all imports of CCSS from China have been subject to potential CVD liability.⁸ Since January 8, 2020, all imports of CCSS from China have been subject to potential AD liability.⁹ Following affirmative final determinations by Commerce and the U.S. International Trade Commission (“ITC”), AD and CVD orders were published on July 20, 2020, setting cash deposit rates on all imports of CCSS from China ranging from 96.15% ad valorem to 122.55% ad valorem (85.61% and 112.01%, respectively, when adjusted for subsidy offsets) in the AD proceeding, and ranging from 12.32% ad valorem to 192.64% ad valorem in the CVD proceeding.¹⁰ JXSL’s AD cash deposit rate is 122.55% (112.01% when adjusted); this is the highest rate in the proceeding, assigned to JXSL because the company failed to cooperate in the investigation. JXSL’s CVD cash deposit rate is 12.32% ad valorem. Lastly, JXSL has not participated in either the first or second AD and CVD administrative reviews.

Separately, CCSS, which are classified under subheading 8305.20.0000, HTSUS, are currently subject to Section 301 List 4A duties, which were initially imposed at a rate of 15% ad

⁸ See Certain Collated Steel Staples From the People’s Republic of China: Preliminary Affirmative Countervailing Duty Determination, and Alignment of Final Determination With Final Antidumping Duty Determination, 84 Fed. Reg. 61,021, 61,022 (Dep’t of Commerce Nov. 12, 2019).

⁹ See Certain Collated Steel Staples From the People’s Republic of China: Preliminary Affirmative Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, Preliminary Affirmative Determination of Critical Circumstances, Postponement of Final Determination and Extension of Provisional Measures, 85 Fed. Reg. 822 (Dep’t of Commerce Jan. 8, 2020).

valorem effective September 1, 2019.¹¹ The Section 301 List 4A duties decreased to 7.5% ad valorem effective February 14, 2020.¹² The 7.5% rate remains in effect today.

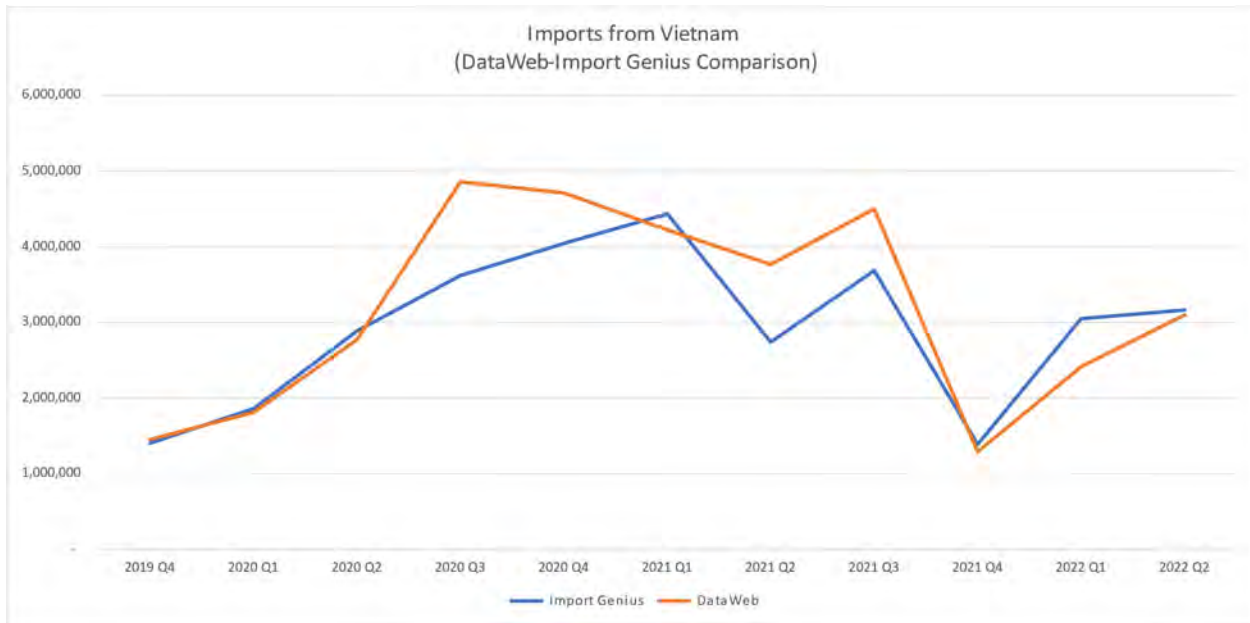

Thus, imports of CCSS from China are currently subject to total AD/CVD cash deposits and Section 301 duties ranging from 105.43% ad valorem to 312.15% ad valorem. Imports from JXSL are subject to AD/CVD cash deposits and Section 301 duties totaling 131.83% ad valorem.

At the time the AD and CVD cases were filed, Vietnam had very little, if any, production of CCSS. Even as the original investigations in the AD and CVD cases were underway, however, imports of CCSS from Vietnam surged dramatically. After the AD and CVD orders went into effect in July 2020, imports of CCSS from Vietnam continued at high levels and have sustained a presence in the U.S. market, with occasional fluctuations in the monthly volumes. This trend is reflected in the graph of official import data¹³ in Exhibits 5A and 5B; a graph showing the import levels by quarter is shown directly below.

¹² See 85 Fed. Reg. 3,741.

¹³ Source: US Census Data available through USITC Dataweb for imports classified under subheading 8305.20.0000, HTSUS, Imports of CCSS from Vietnam (kg).

As can be seen, the Import Genius and DataWeb data are strongly correlated. On a monthly basis, the correlation coefficient is 0.88, on a rolling three-month average basis, it is 0.93, and on a quarterly basis, it is 0.90.¹⁴

Analysis of publicly-available inbound ship manifest data from Import Genius reveals that over 85% of the shipments from Vietnam (when the exporter was identified) are being exported by Vina and shipped to a large U.S. importer/distributor, Peace Industries, Ltd., of which Spotnails is a division and brand name. This 85% figure is based on Vietnamese exports from the Import Genius data, excluding instances where the shipper was identified as a freight/logistics company or was not available. Besides Vina, the only other producers appearing as exporters in the Import Genius data were Hengtuo Metal Products and VN Fasteners, which accounted for much smaller quantities of exports. An analysis of the Import Genius data is provided in Exhibit 6A hereto.

Senco also commissioned confidential foreign market research in Vietnam, and obtained [] is provided in Exhibit 1, Attachment A hereto. We have inserted a column providing []].

The [] data suggest that Vina, in conjunction with JSXL, was engaged in transshipment from September 2019 to early November 2019 before evolving into a classic circumvention operation. Specifically, after Senco filed the AD and CVD cases on Chinese imports, JSXL began shipping []]. Based on the [] data, since early November 2019, Vina has been using wire band, corrugated boxes, and other inputs supplied by JSXL to complete the final step of CCSS production in Vietnam before exporting the products to the United States — basically serving as a substitute for its Chinese exports to circumvent the AD/CVD orders.

A. Vina’s Imports from China

Vina was incorporated on July 4, 2019, probably in reaction to Senco’s filing of the AD and CVD petitions on CCSS from China in June 2019. Shortly thereafter, on August 16 and 17, 2019, just two months after the AD and CVD cases were filed (and only five weeks after the cases were initiated), JXSL shipped [] staple machines to Vina.¹⁵ The product descriptions indicate that these are wire processing machines used to make staples, staple making machines, and packaging machines — all equipment used in the final step of staple production.¹⁶ During the remainder of August 2019 and September 2019, Vina received [] more machines and [] corrugated boxes/cartons from JXSL.¹⁷ The [] data identify multiple shipments of boxes/cartons in this period labeled “Spotnails.”¹⁸

From August 2019 until early November 2019, Vina received [] kg of what appear to be finished staples from JXSL.¹⁹

Starting in November 2019, Vina began receiving galvanized wire band from JXSL. Vina received [] kg of galvanized wire band in November 2019, and from December 2019 until October 2020, received wire band ranging from [] kg every month, almost all of which came from JXSL.²⁰ Vina continued to receive boxes/cartons in most months labeled “Spotnails”; some months have much larger quantities than others.²¹

B. Vina’s Exports to the United States

The first Vina shipments of staples to the United States began to appear in October 2019 — 482,464 kg of staples from Vina to Peace Industries.³⁴ Based on data from October 2019 to July 2022, Vina has exported 21,616,103 kg of CCSS to the United States, which represents over 85% of identifiable entries reported out through Import Genius, with bulk of the shipments where the importer/consignee is identifiable going to Peace/Spotnails.³⁵

The data demonstrate the transshipment of finished staples from JXSL to Vina, the transfer of staple machines by JXSL to Vina, and the ongoing export of Chinese raw materials to Vina to be finished into CCSS to be exported to the U.S.

V. DISCUSSION

A. Legal Standard

Pursuant to 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b), at any time an AD order is in effect, Commerce may include, within the scope of an order, merchandise that is “assembled or completed” in a foreign country other than a country under order, if:

(A) merchandise imported into the United States is of the same class or kind as any merchandise produced in a foreign country that is the subject of –

(i) an antidumping duty order issued under section 1673e of this title,

³⁴ See Exhibit 6A.

³⁵ See Exhibit 6B.

(iii) a countervailing duty order issued under section 1671e of this title or section 1303 1 of this title,

(B) before importation into the United States, such imported merchandise is completed or assembled in another foreign country from merchandise which –

(i) is subject to such order or finding, or

(ii) is produced in the foreign country with respect to which such order or finding applies,

(C) the process of assembly or completion in the foreign country referred to in subparagraph (B) is minor or insignificant,

(D) the value of the merchandise produced in the foreign country to which the antidumping duty order applies is a significant portion of the total value of the merchandise exported to the United States, and

(E) the administering authority determines that action is appropriate under this paragraph to prevent evasion of such order or finding. . . .³⁶

In determining whether the process of assembly or completion is minor or insignificant, Commerce is required to consider:

(A) the level of investment in the foreign country,

(B) the level of research and development in the foreign country,

(C) the nature of the production process in the foreign country,

(D) the extent of production facilities in the foreign country, and

(E) whether the value of the processing performed in the foreign country represents a small proportion of the value of the merchandise imported into the United States.³⁷

When evaluating the propriety of including the merchandise under the order, Commerce also is required to consider such factors as:

(A) the pattern of trade, including sourcing patterns,

³⁶ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(1).

³⁷ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(2).

- (B) whether the manufacturer or exporter of the merchandise described in paragraph (1)(B) is affiliated with the person who uses the merchandise described in paragraph (1)(B) to assemble or complete in the foreign country the merchandise that is subsequently imported into the United States, and
- (C) whether imports into the foreign country of the merchandise described in paragraph (1)(B) have increased after the initiation of the investigation which resulted in the issuance of such order or finding.³⁸

In conjunction with its determination, Commerce is required to take into account any advice provided by the ITC.³⁹

Based on the evidence that is reasonably available to Senco, Senco submits that each of the statutory criteria described above is satisfied, and therefore, initiation of an anti-circumvention inquiry and an affirmative determination of circumvention are appropriate.

B. CCSS Completed or Assembled in Vietnam by Vina Are of the Same Class or Kind of Merchandise as Subject CCSS

Section 1677j(b)(A) of the Act requires that the merchandise imported into the United States be “of the same class or kind as any merchandise produced in a foreign country that is the subject of . . . an antidumping duty order issued under section 1673e of this title.”⁴⁰ This statutory criterion is satisfied.

The CCSS exported to the United States by Vina are of the same class or kind of merchandise as the subject CCSS from China covered by the AD and CVD orders in these proceedings. Vina’s CCSS have the same physical characteristics, are purchased by the same U.S. customers, and are sold through the same channels of distribution as CCSS from China.

³⁸ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(3).

³⁹ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(e).

⁴⁰ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(A)(i).

For Vietnam, the product description field in the Import Genius data does not specify the precise physical characteristics of Vina's exports to the United States. Nonetheless, given Vina's connections to JXSL described above, it is not unreasonable to suspect that Vina has exported, and continues to export, merchandise having the same physical characteristics as the merchandise subject to the AD and CVD orders. After all, JXSL was one of the two largest exporters of CCSS in China and its exports to the U.S. market now face a significant duty liability. Multiple entries show that Vina has exported "staples" classified under HTSUS 8305.2000.00 to Peace Industries, Ltd., a large U.S. importer/distributor of CCSS.

C. Before Importation into the United States, CCSS Are Completed or Assembled in Vietnam from Wire Band Produced in China

Section 1677j(b)(B) of the Act requires that "before importation into the United States, such imported merchandise is completed or assembled in another foreign country from merchandise which . . . is produced in the foreign country with respect to which such order or finding applies. . . ." ⁴¹ This statutory criterion is satisfied: Vina imports wire band from China and uses it to complete or finish manufacturing CCSS in Vietnam before exporting it to the United States.

As discussed above, JXSL [

⁴¹ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(1)(B).

].⁴² That Vina is using raw materials imported from China to complete/assemble CCSS in Vietnam is further buttressed by foreign market research. This research discovered, through various sources, that Vina is a buyer of [

].⁴³ In addition, Vina has been selling and shipping finished staples to Peace Industries since October 2019.⁴⁴ Therefore, beginning in November 2019, Vina has been assembling/completing the production of CCSS in Vietnam using wire band produced in China by performing the final step or steps of the manufacturing process (i.e., processing wire band through the staple-forming machines, and then packaging the staples into boxes/cartons) before importing it to the U.S.

D. The Process Performed in Vietnam Is Minor or Insignificant

Section 781(b)(1)(C) of the Act requires that “the process of assembly or completion in the foreign country . . . {be} minor or insignificant. . . .”⁴⁵ Section 781(b)(2) enumerates five criteria that must be considered in determining whether the process of completion or assembly is minor or insignificant:

- (A) the level of investment in the foreign country,
- (B) the level of research and development in the foreign country,
- (C) the nature of the production process in the foreign country,

⁴² See Exhibit 1, Attachment A.

⁴³ See Exhibit 1.

⁴⁴ See Exhibits 6B and 7.

⁴⁵ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(1)(C).

- (D) the extent of production facilities in the foreign country, and
- (E) whether the value of the processing performed in the foreign country represents a small proportion of the value of the merchandise imported in the United States.⁴⁶

These statutory criteria have been satisfied.

The process performed by Vina in Vietnam is minor or insignificant because all that Vina does is process Chinese-origin wire band through staple-forming machines (also imported from China), and then package the finished CCSS into boxes/cartons for export to the U.S.

In Vina's process, multiple strands of wire are pulled from a backstand holding spools of wire. The number of strands is based on the maximum width of the band that the band line can produce, rather than the number of staples in the finished strip.

The staple forming machine measures the amount of band needed to form the strip of finished staples, and then shears the piece from the band and forms the strip of staples in one action. The finished strip of staples is then ejected for packing, either by hand or using automated packing systems.

As the manufacturing process makes clear, the processing performed by Vina in Vietnam is very minor and insignificant since it starts with wire band, which it only needs to pass through staple forming machines to form finished CCSS, which it then packs into boxes/cartons for sale.

1. The Level of Investment in Vietnam Is Minor or Insignificant

The level of investment required to process wire band into CCSS in Vietnam is minor or insignificant. Vina's production model — [ ] and other companies in China, processing wire band into collated staples using the staple-forming machines, and packing the collated staples into boxes/cartons for export to the United States — requires, at most, staple-forming machines and boxes/cartons, [

], and minimal labor. The “investment” in Vina’s operations is therefore minor or insignificant, on its own and in the context of the investment a steel producer would require to produce the wire band input. In other words, the level of investment to complete/assemble CCSS in Vietnam pales in comparison to that needed to produce steel wire rod, draw that rod into steel wire, potentially galvanize it, and then also potentially form it into a wire band.

2. There Is No Research and Development in Vietnam

There is no evidence of research and development (“R&D”) taking place in Vietnam. As a general matter, the production of CCSS involves mature technologies and processes. As a company founded only in mid-2019, evidently for the sole purpose of circumventing AD and CVD orders on CCSS from China, it is difficult to imagine that Vina would need to conduct any R&D. This is also supported by the fact that Vina immediately began exporting CCSS to the U.S. after it was founded in July 2019, suggesting that the company almost certainly did not conduct any R&D.

3. The Production Process in Vietnam Is Minimal and Designed Merely to Circumvent the Orders

Section 1677j(b)(2)(C) directs Commerce to consider the nature of the “production process” in the foreign country. As discussed above, the only production process performed by Vina in Vietnam is processing wire band through staple-forming machines, which measure the amount of band needed to form the strip of finished staples, then shear the piece of band from the band and form the strip of staples in one action. After this step, Vina only needs to pack the finished staples into boxes or cartons for exporting to the U.S. This production process is limited and minor when compared to the operations required to produce wire band (the input Vina starts with), and appears to be designed solely to circumvent the AD and CVD orders on CCSS from China.

4. The Extent of Production Facilities in Vietnam Is Limited

Information about Vina’s production facilities is not reasonably available to Senco. However, based on the limited production process done by Vina, there is reason to believe that Vina would not need to have significant production facilities, given that it only needs to house staple-forming machines and provide some room for packaging the CCSS into boxes/cartons. Therefore, the extent of Vina’s production facilities in Vietnam is limited.

5. The Value of the Processing Performed in Vietnam Represents a Small Proportion of the Value of the Product Shipped to the United States

The statute directs Commerce to consider “whether the value of the processing performed in the foreign country represents a small proportion of the value of the merchandise imported into the United States.”⁴⁷ As discussed above, the processing performed by Vina in Vietnam involves processing Chinese-origin wire band through staple-forming machines and packing finished staples into boxes/cartons. Such minor completion or assembly operations necessarily represent a small proportion of the value of the finished CCSS shipped to the United States.

⁴⁷ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(2)(E).

This conclusion is supported by the ITC’s final determination, in which it found that “[r]aw materials are the largest component of total cost of goods sold (‘COGS’) for CCS staples.”⁴⁸ This is also confirmed by Senco’s cost model submitted in the petitions, which shows that steel wire accounts for [] of its cost of production, and if steel wire is processed into wire band (which is what Vina starts with), that accounts for almost [] of the cost of production.⁴⁹ This demonstrates that the value of the minimal processing performed by Vina in Vietnam presents a very small proportion (less than []) of the value of the CCSS shipped to the U.S.

E. The Value of Wire Bands Produced in China Is a Significant Proportion of the Value of the CCSS Exported by Vina

Section 781(b)(1)(D) of the Act requires Commerce to consider whether “the value of the merchandise produced in the foreign country to which the antidumping duty order applies” (i.e., Chinese wire band) “is a significant proportion of the total value of the merchandise exported to the United States,” i.e., finished CCSS exported by Vina to the U.S.⁵⁰

As discussed in detail above, the value of the processing done by Vina in Vietnam is a minimal part (less than []) of the cost of the completed merchandise. Conversely, the value of wire bands produced in China is a significant proportion (almost []) of the value of the completed CCSS.

⁵⁰ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(1)(D).

F. Including CCSS Produced by Vina from Chinese Wire Bands Under the Orders Is Appropriate to Prevent Circumvention of the AD and CVD Orders in these Proceedings

Pursuant to section 781(b)(1)(E) of the Act, Commerce is required to determine whether including the merchandise at issue under the order is appropriate to prevent circumvention of the AD order.⁵¹ When making that determination, section 781(b)(3) requires Commerce to consider such factors as:

- (A) the pattern of trade, including sourcing patterns,
- (B) whether the manufacturer or exporter of the merchandise . . . is affiliated with the person who uses the merchandise . . . to assemble or complete in the foreign country the merchandise that is subsequently imported into the United States, and
- (C) whether imports into the foreign country of the merchandise . . . have increased after the initiation of the investigation which resulted in the issuance of such order or finding.⁵²

Analysis of these factors supports a determination to include Vina’s CCSS under the AD and CVD orders of this proceeding.

1. The Pattern of Trade Reflects Deliberate Actions to Shift Completion or Assembly Operations to Vietnam

Section 781(b)(3)(A) of the Act requires Commerce to consider “the patterns of trade, including sourcing patterns.”⁵³ As discussed above, at the time the AD and CVD cases on CCSS from China were filed, Vietnam had very little production of CCSS. Even as the original investigations in the AD and CVD cases were underway, however, imports of CCSS from ⁵¹ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(1)(E).

⁵² 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(3).

⁵³ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(3)(A).

Vietnam surged dramatically. After the AD and CVD orders went into effect in July 2020, imports of CCSS from Vietnam increased and have sustained a presence in the U.S. market. This trend is reflected in the graph of official import data in Exhibits 5A and 5B.

Analysis of publicly-available inbound ship manifest data from Import Genius reveals that over 85% of the shipments from Vietnam to the United States are being exported by Vina. Given that Vina was founded only in July 2019 (which was shortly before the AD and CVD orders went into effect), and that it began shipping to the U.S. shortly thereafter in October 2019, it is reasonable to believe that Vina was established for the sole purpose of circumventing the AD and CVD orders on CCSS from China by shifting the final completion and packing operations to Vietnam. This pattern of trade strongly supports a determination that including Vina's CCSS under the AD and CVD orders is appropriate to prevent continued evasion of the orders in this proceeding. Indeed, this fact is underscored when one looks at the low average unit value ("AUV") of staples being imported from Vietnam compared to the AUVs of imports from other countries, as show in Exhibit 5C.

2. Affiliation

Section 781(b)(3)(B) of the Act requires Commerce to consider:

Whether the manufacturer or exporter of the merchandise . . . is affiliated with the person who uses the merchandise . . . to assemble or complete in the foreign country the merchandise that is subsequently imported into the United States. . . .⁵⁴

Senco has not been able to find any evidence of affiliation between Vina and JXSL or other Chinese companies. However, this should not be considered a negative factor in Commerce's analysis. Affiliation is merely one of the three illustrative factors included in 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(3) (“In determining whether to include merchandise assembled or completed in a foreign country in a countervailing duty order or an antidumping duty order . . . , the administering authority shall take into account such factors as. . .”). Senco respectfully submits that other factors discussed in this request are sufficient to support an affirmative determination of circumvention.

3. Imports of the Primary Raw Material Used to Produce CCSS from China into Vietnam Increased After the Initiation of the Original AD and CVD Investigations

Pursuant to section 781(b)(3)(C) of the Act, Commerce is required to consider whether imports into Vietnam of the merchandise that is ultimately exported to the United States have increased after the initiation of the investigation which resulted in the issuance of the AD and CVD orders.⁵⁵

First, as discussed above, Vietnam was not a source of CCSS at the time the investigations were initiated. This supports a reasonable inference that wire band was not being shipped to Vietnam for completion or assembly into CCSS, because Chinese producers and exporters had no restrictions on their exports into the United States.

Second, Vina did not exist at the time the original investigations were initiated. Thus, before that time, Vina could not have imported wire band from China.

Third, as discussed above, since initiation of the original investigations in these proceedings, imports of Chinese wire band to Vina have increased steadily and substantially.

⁵⁵ 19 U.S.C. § 1677j(b)(3)(C).

Information reasonably available to Senco does not include data on the imports of Chinese wire band into Vietnam on a Vietnam-wide basis for the purpose of CCSS production. However, given that Vina accounts for the vast majority of CCSS exports from Vietnam to the U.S. since Vietnam began exporting CCSS to the U.S., Senco submits that imports of Chinese wire band to Vina reasonably approximate the imports of Chinese wire band into Vietnam on a Vietnam-wide basis for the purpose of CCSS production.

Based on the information discussed above, we respectfully submit that including CCSS produced by Vina from Chinese wire band in the AD and CVD orders is appropriate to prevent continued circumvention of the orders in these proceedings.

VI. THE CIRCUMVENTION INQUIRY SHOULD BE CONDUCTED ON A VIETNAM-WIDE BASIS

Pursuant to 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(c)(2)(iv), Senco respectfully requests that Commerce conduct the circumvention inquiry on a Vietnam-wide basis.

When Commerce proposed the recently-promulgated 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(c)(2)(iv), the agency explained that one of the factors it may consider in making such a determination is “the possibility of subsequent circumvention by other producers, exporters, or importers following the issuance of an affirmative company-specific circumvention determination.”⁵⁶ Senco submits that there is such a distinct possibility here, as Vina’s experience aptly demonstrates that a company can be quickly set up in Vietnam, and can immediately begin processing Chinese wire band into CCSS for export to the U.S.

⁵⁶ Regulations to Improve Administration and Enforcement of Antidumping and Countervailing Duty Laws, 85 Fed. Reg. 49,472, 49,488 (Dep’t of Commerce Aug. 13, 2020).

There have been many past instances in which other producers, exporters, or importers subsequently engage in circumvention activities following the issuance of a company-specific circumvention determination, which forces the domestic industry to repeatedly request circumvention inquiries against exporters from the same country in a game of “whack-a-mole.” Indeed, some of these instances involve processes in Vietnam performed to circumvent AD/CVD orders on Chinese products. For example, in 2008, Commerce determined that Vietnamese company Vietnam Quijiang Paper Co., Ltd. (“Quijiang”) circumvented the AD order on tissue paper from China by completing or assembling tissue paper products from Chinese-origin jumbo rolls in Vietnam and then exporting them to the U.S., following a request by petitioner Seaman Paper.⁵⁷ Just a few years later in 2011, Seaman Paper had to request Commerce to initiate another circumvention inquiry against another Vietnamese company, Max Fortune (Vietnam) Paper Products Company, Limited (“Max Fortune”), for engaging in the same kind of circumvention activities as Quijiang: exporting tissue paper products to the U.S. from Vietnam that were completed or assembled in Vietnam from jumbo rolls and/or cut sheets of tissue paper produced in China.⁵⁸ Commerce reached an affirmative circumvention determination against

⁵⁸ See Certain Tissue Paper Products From the People’s Republic of China: Preliminary Affirmative Determination of Circumvention of the Antidumping Duty Order, 76 Fed. Reg. 19,043 (Dep’t of Commerce Apr. 6, 2011) (unchanged in final results, Certain Tissue Paper Products From the People’s Republic of China: Affirmative Final Determination of

Max Fortune as well.⁵⁹ Had Commerce issued a circumvention determination on a Vietnam-wide basis in 2008, Seaman Paper would not have had to request another circumvention inquiry and Commerce would not have needed to expend its scarce resources to conduct another similar inquiry in 2011. More importantly, foreign producers/exporters and U.S. importers would not have been able to freely engage in circumvention activities to evade lawfully owed AD/CVD duties until a company-specific circumvention determination was issued against them. Similarly, here, if Commerce issues a company-specific circumvention determination against Vina, there is very little deterrence on other Vietnamese companies from engaging in the same kind of circumvention activities as Vina and injuring an already weakened domestic industry.

Therefore, Senco submits that Commerce should conduct a circumvention inquiry on a Vietnam-wide basis based on available record evidence. Doing so will deter Vietnamese producers/exporters and U.S. importers from engaging in circumvention activities to evade duties, ensure the effectiveness of the remedies provided by the AD/CVD orders in these proceedings, and conserve Commerce's resources that can be better spent elsewhere.

VII. COMMERCE SHOULD INSTRUCT U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION TO SUSPEND LIQUIDATION AND REQUIRE A CASH DEPOSIT RETROACTIVELY TO A DATE PRIOR TO THE PUBLICATION OF THE INITIATION NOTICE

Pursuant to 19 C.F.R. § 351.226(l)(2)(iii)(A), Senco respectfully requests that Commerce consider an alternative, earlier suspension date for the merchandise subject to this circumvention allegation. Good cause exists for this action. First, as discussed above, Vina began operations in July 2019, and likely began transshipping Chinese-origin staples in September 2019, with its own completion/assembly operations likely starting in November 2019. Senco believes that ordering suspension of liquidation and posting of a cash deposit for any entries that remain unliquidated from November 4, 2021 (i.e., the effective date of Commerce's new circumvention regulations) and onward is therefore appropriate, as Vina's completion/assembly operations had already commenced well before that date. Second, implementing a retroactive suspension date would allow Commerce to protect the maximum amount of potential revenue from merchandise that is circumventing the AD and CVD orders on CCSS from China.

VIII. CONCLUSION

The evidence discussed above satisfies each of the statutory requirements and supports a determination to initiate an anti-circumvention inquiry into Vina's operations, as well as a determination that Vina has been circumventing the order in this proceeding. Furthermore, any affirmative circumvention determination should be applied on a Vietnam-wide basis and should be implemented with the earlier alternative effective date described above.

IX. REQUEST FOR PROPRIETARY TREATMENT

A. Request for Proprietary Treatment of Information Contained in Single Brackets

Senco requests proprietary treatment for the single-bracketed information contained in the text of this submission and in the Exhibits attached hereto pursuant to section 777(b)(1) of Tariff Act of 1930, as amended, 19 U.S.C. § 1677f(b)(1), and section 351.105 of Commerce's regulations, 19 C.F.R. § 351.105. Specifically, the single-bracketed information contained in this submission consists of information on the general commercial and industrial facts discovered by confidential and proprietary research, including business relationships. Single bracketed information includes:

- A description of general research sources and proprietary collection methods of the consultants;
- The details of information concerning business operations obtained through confidential research; and
- Transaction-specific and shipment-specific information obtained by Senco's researchers concerning Vina's imports and exports.

The single-bracketed information contained in this submission submitted by Senco, therefore, is the specific business proprietary information of Senco and of its consultants obtained through confidential and proprietary research. This information is not publicly available, is commercially valuable, and would cause substantial harm to the competitive position of the submitter if it were released to the public. Accordingly, the single-bracketed information is entitled to business proprietary treatment under the Act and Commerce's regulations.

B. Request that Information Contained in Double Brackets Be Withheld from Release

Senco also requests special protection for double-bracketed information contained in Exhibit 1 attached hereto pursuant to sections 777(b)(1)(B) and 777(c)(1)(A) of the Act, 19 U.S.C. §§ 1677f(b)(1)(B) & 1677f(c)(1)(A). This information is the type discussed in the legislative history of the Omnibus Trade and Competitiveness Act of 1988 (which amended the Tariff Act of 1930) as qualifying for an exception to the general rule that business proprietary information shall be subject to disclosure under administrative protective order. As stated in the House Report, double bracketing is appropriate in the case of “specific information for which there is a clear and compelling need to withhold from disclosure.” H.R. Rep. No. 100-576, at 623 (1988).

Double-bracketing the information in the attached exhibits and text is warranted because release of the relevant information would lead to the disclosure of the identity of Senco’s confidential sources, confidential research methods, and independent sources of commercial documentation. For example:

- The source methods used by petitioner to gather data. Disclosure of this highly sensitive information — even if only to counsel under administrative protective order — would invite contacts with the sources that ultimately could lead to the disclosure of the source’s identity, particularly given the combination of sources in this instance;
- Descriptive language concerning the methods and timing of the research methodologies employed. This language provides detail sufficient to effectively disclose the identity of the sources. There are very few information channels in the world for obtaining the type and quality of information provided by the market researcher for this submission. In particular, sources in China and Thailand have specific restrictions on access and use. Thus, the precise methodologies underlying their research and the format of their research reports are so distinctive that these effectively represent the “signatures” of the consultants; and

- The source of the independent commercial information that was provided to Senco. Disclosure of the identity of these sources, even to counsel under administrative protective order, would invite contacts with the source and could ultimately lead to disclosure of the independent researcher's identity.

Accordingly, revealing any of the double-bracketed information contained in the attached Exhibit 1 would reveal the identity of the Senco's consultants and its independent sources of commercial information. The identity of such firms and individuals is precisely the information Senco seeks to protect. Therefore, all double-bracketed information has been deleted from the APO and public versions of Exhibit 1.

There are clear and compelling reasons within the meaning of the statute for why the identity of Senco's consultants and independent sources of commercial information must not be released by Commerce. Most importantly, it is a matter of each researcher's personal safety and economic security, as well as the researcher's sources' personal safety. Once the identities are released there is no way to cure the breach. For these reasons, we submit that Commerce should grant Senco's requests for single- and double-bracketing.

Exhibit 7 - Vietnam Import Genius Data, Reconciliations, and Analysis Key

Barcode:4310640-01 A-570-112 ~~Analysis Key~~ Analysis Key Circumvention Inquiry - Vina

ImportGenius data shows individual shipment information for imports to the United States. Each entry lists the product description for the shipment, shipper, consignee, arrival date, weight, and notify party. The shipper refers to the party responsible for packaging and preparing the shipment (often the producer). The consignee is the party receiving the shipment and the notify party is an additional party who is notified upon the shipment's arrival, often the logistics company handling the shipment or the purchaser.

In order to accurately analyze data of staples import shipments from Vietnam acquired from ImportGenius, we needed to eliminate duplicate shipments and determine accurate shippers. To eliminate duplicate shipments, we compared the house and master bills of lading provided with each shipment. When calculating monthly totals, we separated shipments with house bill of ladings that matched master bill of ladings already listed in that month's data. Red highlights are used to indicate duplicate bills of lading throughout this sheet.

Shippers are either labeled as the producer, the shipping/logistics company handling the shipment, or as "not available" (NA). The producers found in these data are Vina Hardware, VN Fasteners, and Hengtuo. Shipments from shipping/logistics companies or "not available" shippers can sometimes be identified as belonging to a specific producer if the producer's name is listed in the product description or marks fields, if the shipment's house bill of lading matches a master bill of lading from a shipment with the producer identified as the shipper, or through similarities between the appearance of shipments with and without the producer specified, as discussed below. "Not available" shippers could be either shipping/logistics companies or producers, but we rely on these clues as outlined above to identify them as their identities are hidden.

Prior to June 2020, Vina shipments are labeled as such with master bill of ladings that match house bill of ladings belonging to shipments from Pudong Prime, a shipping company. We begin to see a shift in June 2020 from Vina being identified in all of the shipments. In June there are only a handful of shipments where Vina is identifies as a shipper. However, we can still determine the amount of shipments where the shipper is actually Vina. From October until May there had been 128 indiviudal shipments where Pudong was listed as the shipper. In every single shipment, except one shipment in December, each shipment where Pudong was listed as the shipper could be directly mapped to a shipment where Vina was listed as a shipper. Suddenly, in June only a few Pudong shipments were being mapped to Vina while others were being mapped to shipments where the shipper is NA. From July forward, there are suddenly no Pudong shipments linked to Vina, but a very high number linked to NA. Given this fact pattern, we treat Pudong shipments that map to NA shipments as Vina shipments, especially because Vina is the largest shipper and no other shippers are linked to Pudong Prime in the time period analyzed.

In June 2022, a large quantity of shipments are once again labeled as being shipped by Vina and this continues in the following months through the most recent data. As was true with shipments explicitly identifying Vina as the shipper prior to June 2020, these shipments match bills of lading from Pudong Prime. Additionally, once Vina-labeled shipments again appear in the data, the number of NA shipments decreases significantly.

In May 2020, all shipments from shipper Hanabit map to duplicate shipments from Vina. This continues for some shipments in June 2020, however additional shipments from Hanabit map to NA shippers. In July 2020, all Hanabit shipments map to NA shippers. However, these Hanabit shipments that align with NA shipments can also be traced to Vina. The product descriptions confirm that these are Vina shipments. The product descriptions say "Steel Nails," and the NA shipments they map to have a product description of "staples". This pattern is identical to earlier Hanabit shipments that map to Vina shipments. Prior to June here have been 62 shipments with a product description of "steel nails." Those all map to Vina shipments where the product description is "staples." For these reasons, we treat Hanabit shipments as Vina shipments.

The final totals exclude duplicate shipments and indicate the producer, either Vina, Hengtuo, or VN Fasteners, when possible. Shipments with "not available" shippers as well as shipments that are only traced to logistics/shipping companies are summed in a row labeled "other."
